Dutch Aviation Open heading for first Lustrum in 2003

Another great edition of the DAO made VZM firmly announce the lustrum edition of next year. The 2003 DAO will be hosted on Tuesday September 14, 2003. This years edition showed a great number of loyal participants that all remembered last years 9-11 event. We all hope there will never be a reason to fear such a coincidence. VZM will make all efforts to make the lustrum edition a very special one. We count on you next year!

The clinic

The majority of the 2002 clinic players had participated in one or more of the previous years' clinics. The experience showed and many were praised for their progress, like Patrick Morcus, who earned second price in the clinic this year.

All the participants practiced their swings and putting fanatically, but none as devoted as Paul van de Boom, winning the third price. However, the most remarkable participant for this year's excellent pros Lisa Koenders and Jeroen Germes was first time participant Ellen Langelier. With ease she won the driver competition and thus the first price. The way she swung her driver showed an undiscovered golf talent.

The Gary Price sculptor "WINGS" Challenge-Trophy

Gary Price about WINGS: "This is one of my favorite pieces, as my first born son, Zachariah, modeled for it. It's a very therapeutic piece for me, representing freedom and the joy for life that so many of us lose sight of in our busy and responsible lives. The hand-me-down coveralls represent the toil and labor of the world, and the mail-order glider and outstretched arms have to do with dreams and aspirations."

The Gary Price sculpture WINGS is the Challenge-trophy of the Dutch Aviation Open Golf Tournament.
